HARBOR CONSTRUCTION PROJECT IN JASMUNDER BODDEN (12 pp; German, English; [REDACTED])

25X1A

[REDACTED] date distributed: 17 Jul 52.

The first two pages of the document are a typewritten English-language report and [REDACTED] comment stating that from 3 to 23 Jan 52 two surveying engineers of the SHD (Seehydrographischer Dienst, Maritime Hydrographic Service) at Stralsund surveyed a 600-meter wide strip of land on the isle of Ruegen, on orders of the Main Administration of the Sea Police. The project was top secret and was in line with plans to construct a naval harbor by cutting through from the Tromper Wiek to the Jasmunder Bodden, an old German project which had been abandoned in 1939. -

[REDACTED] comment further states that according to an unconfirmed report [REDACTED] plans for a dry dock in Wismar have been abandoned and the dock will be built in Martinshafen, west of Sagard at the Jasmunder Bodden (isle of Ruegen).

The remainder of the document is a German-language typewritten duplicate of a report, dated [REDACTED] of the people-owned enterprise Industrial Planning in Rostock to [REDACTED] the Association of People-Owned Industrial Planning Enterprises, (fnu) Adler, in Berlin. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] representatives of the Office for Economic Problems and had conferences with them and with representatives of the Geological Service Berlin, of the Main Administration of the Sea Police, and of the Soviet Military Administration of Germany in Karlshorst. The topic of these conferences was the proposed harbor construction on the isle of Ruegen for which [REDACTED]
